A GEORGIA TRAGEDY.

An Old Man Murdered by a Bobber-His Wife's Escape.

VALDOS, GA., April 14.-A terrible crime was committed about sundown last evening seven miles south of this place, the victim being an old man named John F. Wisenbaker, Mrs. Wisenbaker, his wife, was attending to her duties in the kitchen when she was her duties in the kitchen when she was suddenly accessed by a man. He commanded her to keep still and not make any alarm or he would kill her. The villain then took Wisenbaker's gun down off the rack and went into an adjoining room and proceeded to break open a wooden wardrobe in which the old man kept his money. Mrs. Wisenbaker slipped out and called her husband who was hoeing in a patch about fifty yards away. When told by his wife about the stranger's actions the old man disregarding his wife's entreadtes, entered the house and was met by ties, entered the house and was met by a fusilade of bullets from the robber's pistol. None of them, however, took effect and the old man raised his hoe to strike him. The stranger quickly seized the gun and sent a charge of shot into Wisenbaker's heart and he fell calling to his wife to run, and say-ing that he was killed. Mrs. Wisen-baker then run to the nearest neighbors and gave the alarm, but when help arrived the robber had gone, taking with him what money he could find. Three men are under arrest on suspicion.

PRAGUE, April 14.-In the town of Kolin, or Neu Kolin, the body of a servant girl was recently found in the Elbe, and the impression spread that the girl had been murdered by the Jews in accordance with their supposed religious customs and that after the remains had been used in supposed secretrites, the body had been thrown secretrites, the body had been thrown into the river. A multitude of the more ignorant populace believed the story. They gathered in force and wrecked the Jewish synagogue and attacked and wrecked the shops and residences of the Jews. The mob were in complete control and resisted the soldiers who were summoned. Many of the mob were belly wounded before of the mob were badly wounded before the mob was subdued. The ringleaders were arrested but not until after the Jewish population of Kolin had suffered a large loss of property.

INDIGNANT CANAL MEN. Superintendent Hanan's Delay Will Cause

Them Heavy Loss.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 14.-Canal men here are indignant at Canal Superintendent Hanan's letter announcing that the canal can't be opened on May 1, and neglecting to say when it can be opened. The merchant's exchange has appointed a committee to go to Albany and investigate. The canal is usually opened on May 1, and as the season is early and repairs to be made are light, it could be opened even ahead of that time this year. It is a matter of great importance, because if the New York fleet does not get here by the time the 10,000,000 bushels of grain from Chi-cago reach Buffalo the part of this un-precedented shipment will go to railprecedented suppment will go to rail-roads, which therefore are likely to reap a rich profit out of Superintendent Hanan's delay. Canal men here say that the delay of a week in opening the canal will make a difference of half a cent on their freight rates the whole season.

In "Utterly Mistaken," her latest novel, we find Annie Thomas (Mrs. Pender Cudlep), at her best. It is a modern story; that is, the characters are not only people of the day, but the story is told in the modern style. The plot is peculiar, and for that very reason it would attract attention, even if the author's name was not that of a popular favorite, and the publishers the Cassell Publishing Company.

A much firmer tone characterized dealings at the stock exchange to-day. Manhaitan suffered a decline of 6 points, and Richmond Termina securities broke badly on sales by holders who were disappointed by the announcement of Drexch, Morgan & Co. regarding the reorganization. The firm in question gave no particulars as to the basis on which holders of the securities are to participate in the plan, but simply invite them to tender their stocks and bonds, and they will assue the conditions.

These movements failed to have any appreciable influence on the general market, which steadily gained strength despite active opposition on the part of the bears. There were good inquiry for industrials, grangers and the coalers. The bulls were more aggressive than of late, owing to the fact that good shipments were leas than anticipated. To-morrow's stemmers will take out only $1.20,000, and it is quite possible that the shipments next week will fall below $3.000,000. The market closed strong at or near the best figures of the day.

Railway bonds were week. Sales $817,000.

Chicago, April 14.—Unlucky "Plunger" Pardridge, in view of the decline in May wheat, made an attempt to-day, it is said, and got back some of the money he was forced to put upon margins during the big bulge. According to current gossip he was promptly given the cold shoulder and other victims a faste exactly similar. Apparently it is the intention of the clique to keep a string on every dealer they can lure into the charmed circle. May wheat was in a measure overlooked apparently to-day, and operations seem to be transferred principally to July. It was a part of the gossip that clique was heavily short of July and September, and had got alarmed at the erop outlook and was covering heavily.
